1. GUIDANCE FOR THE END USER

This report contains an integrated discussion of the candidate's results. The results are based on candidates completing a series of tools and exercises that have been designed to assess the competencies in the Competency Framework, designed exclusively for local government in South Africa.

A description of the assessment tools and application thereof, as well as proficiency levels, is stipulated below. The results summary provides an overall indication of the candidate's proficiency levels per competency. An executive summary provides a holistic overview of a candidate in relation to how they manage themselves, think and reason, and relate to other people. An overview of the candidate's strengths and areas of development relative to self is outlined in detail in relation to the competency framework.

2. ASSESSMENT TOOLS

The methodology applied involves a combination of psychometric tools and competency-based assessments.

ASSESSMENT TOOL	ASSESSMENT TYPE	DESCRIPTOR	APPLICATION FOR USER
Cognitive Process Profile (CPP)	Cognitive assessment	The CPP measures the way people think when dealing with new information and solving problems of varying complexity. It also assesses aspects of people's potential for future cognitive development and growth. There is no time limit for completion of this tool.	This tool has been designed to simulate the manner in which a candidate solves problems in unfamiliar and novel situations. It also provides information about the level of complexity the candidate is able to function at.
15FQ+	Personality assessment	The 15 Factor Personality Questionnaire (15FQ+) is designed to assess an individual's broad range of personality traits, interests, preferences, and feelings. Such elements assess the candidate's characteristic ways of behaving across a wide range of situations.	The 15FQ+ and the Giotto are self-reported questionnaires that help to provide an indication of a person's preferences and their likely behaviour in the workplace. These tools help us to understand the type of situations the candidate is likely to excel in because he/she enjoys it and kind of situations the candidate may prefer to avoid, given the opportunity. The limitation of tools such as this is that they do not tell us what the candidate is able to do, only what his/her preferences are.
Giotto	Workplace behaviour assessment	The Giotto was developed to unravel the complex nature of personal integrity, as it relates to the workplace.
Competency-Based Simulation	Simulation exercises	The competency-based simulation assessment comprises of a combination of written exercises, a presentation and a role-play and has been specifically designed to measure the lead and core competencies that have been identified as relevant within a hypothetical municipality and outlined in the competency	Candidates must rely on their knowledge and experience to provide the assessors with evidence of how they will go about solving problems and dealing with the scenarios presented in these exercises. As such, the exercise provides information about a candidate's ability to perform

	framework for senior managers. A candidate is given a set of background documents about a specific municipality – this information attempts to simulate a real municipality – and the candidate then needs to complete the following tasks: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In Task 1, the candidate is given time to prepare a presentation that addresses a specific scenario posed in the exercise and he/she then needs to deliver the presentation to an assessor. • In Task 2, the candidate needs to formally prepare for a meeting with an important stakeholder and thereafter conduct a meeting in the form of a role-play with an assessor. In this role-play, the assessor performs the role of the stakeholder. • In Task 3, the candidate needs to respond to specific issues that have arisen on a particular day. This task takes the form of a case study, which is a written exercise. 	within the relevant role based on displayed behaviour.

5. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The section provides an overview of the integrated assessment results obtained from the Psychometric Assessments and Competency-Based Assessment. This includes a description of the candidate's self-management; their thinking and working styles; as well as behaviours and preferences associated with their interpersonal and leadership styles.

Please note: The 15FQ+ contains a number of measures that examine the way in which the respondent has approached the questionnaire. The results indicate that Ms Lebanya may have been relatively concerned to present herself in a more positive light when answering the questions. That is, she may have tended to select answers that project an image that is considered to be more favourable given the context in which the questionnaire was completed. Please note that this only applies to the personality questionnaire and does not cast any doubt about her behaviour in general or raise any questions with regards to the rest of her competency-based results.

Ms Lebanya's personality profile suggests her to be relatively emotionally resilient and stable in mood, she should have little difficulty facing challenges in a calm, collected manner. In addition, her work style questionnaire suggests her to be fairly resourceful and enthusiastic about the future. In the role-play activity she also came across as calm and confident despite facing pressure. In addition, she managed her time well in line with the aforementioned psychometric results.

According to both Ms Lebanya's personality and cognitive profiles, she may focus on ideas, possibilities, and opportunities in the resolution of problems, this was observed in her work sample responses in the competency exercise. She tended to rather only focus on strategies to enhance service delivery and organisational functioning, leaving the practical side of her suggestions of how this might be done aside. When it comes to her work, Ms Lebanya considers herself to be persevering and quite conscientious in character, she may generally accept and reliably discharge responsibility. She has a degree of thoroughness in her work that should predispose her to be quite a good finisher. She is likely to show respect for systems and procedures generally believing there is a right approach, both in work quality and behaviour. This said, her project proposals in the work sample were not presented in a structured, organised manner which resulted in her thinking processes not always easy to follow, however, her priority focus areas were fairly clear across tasks which showcased her planning capabilities. In addition, she placed emphasis on combatting misconduct and non-compliance in the fictional institution which supports her personality profile revealing a fair amount of focus on rules.

Considering her cognitive results, Ms Lebanya prefers functioning in 'Pure Operational' work environments, which are characterized by clear, definite goals and outcomes for success. She prefers completing activities one-by-one in familiar work environments and requires the provision of regular feedback to ensure her that she is on the right track. When faced with ambiguity, she may tend to approach problems in a random and impulsive manner by adopting vague and disorganized styles, which may constrain her strategic capability and problem-solving proficiency. In her work sample, she tended to combine her turnaround strategy, SWOT analysis and her action plans, which at times made it rather confusing to follow her train of thought, which may confirm the aforementioned psychometric findings. Even though she took care to understand the root causes behind seemingly obvious challenges across tasks, she would have benefitted using these findings to help her formulate more relevant, multifaceted solutions in her response which corresponds with her cognitive results, suggesting that she may require development in the analysis of novel data. Ms Lebanya noted the importance of addressing unemployment in the macro-context of the fictional municipality in her first task but did not consistently apply holistic, long-term thinking across items in the work sample. This may be ascribed to her short-term focus, and operational inclination in unfamiliar, complex work terrain as highlighted by the cognitive profile.

Anzelle Botha

In order to meet the intellectual capability requirements of the role, Ms Lebanya needs to operate comfortably at the Diagnostic Accumulation level of work. At the moment she does not meet this requirement, and there may be aspects of the role that require her to shift into more ambiguous territory. Her information processing skills related to the classification, analysis and logical verification of novel data appear to be underdeveloped for successful application in more strategic work terrain, and she may benefit from further strengthening her capabilities in these areas.

Ms Lebanya's personality profile indicates that she tends to be introverted in some situations, and extraverted in others. This implies that she recognises the value of group work and may enjoy being part of a team, whilst also enjoying opportunities for solitary activities from time to time. Her competency exercises included suggestions for collaboration in project execution as well as a strong focus on public participation, which confirms the latter. However, additional emphasis could have been placed on strengthening teamwork amongst internal employees in the fictional institution. Her inclination to accommodate others and to be people-orientated by personality was apparent in her suggestions for uplifting staff morale. This said, she also placed ample focus on the importance of consequence management which showcased her tendency to focus on the hard side of management too. As a leader, she prefers a Negotiative Leadership style indicating that she might rely on the provision of incentives to motivate staff. This preference was apparent in her tasks where employee incentives and rewards received specific attention.

From a holistic perspective, Ms Lebanya performed at a Competent Level during the competency-based assessments. Basic outcomes were achieved in the areas of Program and Project Management, Financial Management as well as Communication. Competent outcomes were achieved in all remaining areas measured during the competency-based assessment.

6. HIGHLIGHTED STRENGTHS AND DEVELOPMENT AREAS

The purpose of this section of the report is to provide comprehensive information about the most significant areas of strength and development areas. The remaining competencies can be discussed in equal depth during the optional feedback session with the candidate.

The information below is based on the individual's results, relative to their own profile – strengths are therefore based on a candidate's top 3 highest scoring competencies to highlight to Municipalities the areas that a candidate can be expected to perform better in.

Anzelle Botha

T·PM NcwTTI AC 0

STRENGTHS
Moral Competence	Ms Lebanya's work styles questionnaire and personality profile suggest that she may be open and honest by personality and that she is unlikely to shift blame onto others at work. In the competency-based exercises emphasis was placed on oversight, fraud prevention, and consequence management requirements to enhance effective risk management within the institution. Emphasis was placed on holding staff members accountable and introducing mechanisms to enhance the financial integrity of systems and processes in the fictional municipality. Therefore, a proficient outcome was achieved in this competency area.
Knowledge and Information Management	Ms Lebanya's workplace behaviour assessment suggests a tendency to be balanced and impartial in her dealings with others. Furthermore, her personality profile also indicates a slight tendency towards being trusting. In her responses to the competency exercise, Ms Lebanya has shown a proclivity to promote the sharing of information within the municipality and the community, with consideration given to some, however, limited, platforms. Focus was placed on increased interaction between the municipality and the community, through Imbizo's and awareness programmes. This said, more attention could have been given to sharing information internally, to learn from mistakes. Nevertheless, she highlighted the important role of municipal representatives within the communities. From an internal perspective, she alluded to taking staff through the code of conduct, to ensure sound understanding, and highlighted the importance of consultation during the policy review process. Therefore, acceptable proficiency was achieved in this competency area.
People Management	According to her personality profile, Ms Lebanya comes across as quite accommodating towards others, and may be sensitive to the needs and feelings of colleagues and subordinates. Her work sample responses confirm this tendency, as focus was placed on the softer side of people management in terms of wellness, morale, capacity building and the creation of role clarity to manage staff expectations. She did however also place focus on transactional elements involved in managing others and gave special attention to the management of staff performance and consequence management in her tasks. Her Negotiative leadership style was evident in the focus that she placed on staff incentive-schemes, and overall, a sufficient amount of attention was given to the promotion of networks and intergovernmental relationships which showcased a collaborative style, even though her personality profile suggests that she may prefer independent work from time to time. Therefore, acceptable proficiency was achieved in this competency area.

DEVELOPMENT AREAS
Financial Management	Even though she is likely to enjoy tasks that require attention to detail, Ms Lebanya's cognitive results indicate that her analytical reasoning skills seem to be underdeveloped for application in highly strategic work environments. This suggests that she might struggle to dismantle and subdivide complex information that she is less accustomed to. Her first exercise showcased an extensive focus on the area of financial management, and she managed to identify most financial challenges facing the fictional municipality. Her solutions to address these challenges were however not always comprehensively discussed. While she recognized the importance of maximizing adherence to financial policies, more detailed budgets, and cash flow projections, to display her understanding of financial planning, budgeting and forecasting in the local government sphere would have been beneficial. Furthermore, her focus on this competency area seemed to dwindle in her second, and third exercises which affected her overall outcome for this competency area. Therefore, additional development is required in Financial Management.

Program and Project Management	According to Ms Lebanya personality profile, she is likely to face challenges in a calm, collected manner, while she tends to cope with demanding situations. She gave sufficient attention to the importance of the development of the community in her written exercises, however, even though she mentioned project management principles such as timelines, milestones, budgets, or resource allocation to ensure the effective implementation, she did not provide practical evidence to show her understanding thereof. Furthermore, no sufficient monitoring mechanisms were provided. Despite her personality results suggesting her to be somewhat conscientious and process-focused, this was not always evident in her planning of projects. In this regard, she would have done well to introduce a project management unit, headed up by a project manager. While some actions were suggested to improve service delivery, limited focus was given to the practical applications on how to execute these. Therefore, additional development in this competency area is needed.
Communication	Ms Lebanya's personality assessment suggests that she might be somewhat passive and tends to dislike confrontation. In addition, she appears to be as sensitive as most people to the demands of social situations. She tends to generally resist saying things that could cause upset or offence others. While she managed to convey her inputs in a way that facilitated mutual understanding between herself and the assessor during the role play components of the assessment, her written communication was presented without sufficient details at times and not always well-structured. Although she alluded to the importance of communication and suggested induction for new employees and the involvement of various stakeholders, her tasks did not always showcase an understanding of the basic principles underlying effective communication and methods to use in the local government sphere. Therefore, she needs to consider her audience to a greater extend and use more effective communication platforms to make sure her message is conveyed and clearly understood. Therefore, additional development is required in the area of Communication.
